STATEMENT OF CAPABILITIES: EDUCATION

Our team of consultants from across the USA has deep experience in education and education-related fields, as well as in government, community-based and large organizations. We work with education leaders, their teams and their community stakeholders to develop programmatic capacity to support vital work on education planning, policy and equity.

Using the proprietary processes of the Technology of Participation (ToP^o), as facilitative consultants we specialize in training, group facilitation, consultation, and skills-coaching, and supporting education agencies in guiding groups and communities to achieve their common goals. We build capacity for cross-sector collaborative work to support education programs. Our services include facilitative leadership training for education professionals to engage their professional communities to work better together. We provide skilled meeting facilitation, training in facilitation methods, public policy development, creative problem solving, mediation, change management, team building, action and strategic planning.

Our Education Team has extensive experience developing consensus and aligning teams to create results that all group members enthusiastically support. Our training and facilitation can equip members of the education community with the tools to make sense of assessment and evaluation data and respond to rapidly changing standards and expectations so they may provide high quality educational programs serving everyone from primary school students to older adults who are returning to the workforce. We help education agencies and their community partners accomplish great things together.
