STATEMENT OF CAPABILITIES

Public Health

We represent a team of consultants across the USA with deep experience in public health and health-related fields as well as governmental, community-based and large organizational work. We work with health leaders, their teams and their community stakeholders to develop programmatic capacity to support vital work on health planning, policy, assurance, and equity. As facilitative consultants we specialize in training, group facilitation, consultation and skills-coaching, helping health serving agencies guide groups and communities to achieve their common goals. We build capacity for cross-sector collaborative work to support population health efforts.

Our services include facilitative leadership training for health professionals to engage grassroots and professional communities to work together for effective collective impact. We provide meeting facilitation, public policy development, creative problem solving, mediation, change management, team building, action and strategic planning. Our training team uses the powerful Technology of Participation (ToP) proprietary processes to develop consensus and align teams to create results that all group members enthusiastically support. ToP methods equip community planning teams to make sense of assessment and evaluation data, resulting in successful Community Health Assessment, Community Health Improvement Process and accreditation efforts. We help health serving agencies and their community partners accomplish great things together.

Benefits to your organization:

- Experience and tools to meet the unique organizational needs of each organization through customized design and facilitation of planning meetings and events
- Engagement of staff and stakeholder groups with collaborative tools that support action and collective impact
- Well-designed meetings, both on-site or virtual, that are highly productive and participatory to spark innovation and engagement
- Proven ways to build leadership capacity through our training classes, facilitative leadership courses and staff skill development
- Inspired teams through well designed meetings to achieve their common goals together
- Facilitated change and transition management to strengthen agency results
- Quick results with professionally designed and visually illustrated meetings

Services we offer:

- Experienced facilitation, coaching and consultation to support the skill building of public health professionals
- Trainings for staff in the powerful Technology of Participation (ToP®) courses for exceptional meeting skills
- Specialization in cross-sector collaborative work to support population health efforts
- Experience in assisting groups in making sense of assessment and evaluation data including support for Community Health Assessment, Community Health Improvement Plans and accreditation requirements
- Course that are readily applicable for government entities, including Basic Meeting Skills, Accelerated Action Planning, Environmental Scanning, Strategic Planning and Strategic Plan Implementation
